LIFE INSURANCE has at last become one of the institutions of the land, and in case of death the question—Is he insured? is generally asked, as it is when abductees are destroyed by fire. Many persons die annually, leaving their families in poverty, who might with very little sacrifice have been in comfortable circumstances. Messrs. John S. Kimball & Son in another column advise themselves as Agents for Life Insurance Companies.

—The steady, quiet rain of yesterday afternoon and last night will tend to fill the cisterns and wells, but it makes sad havoc with the sloshing.

PERSONOR LEO-DIVING COMPANY. At the annual meeting of this Company, held at the Penobscot Exchange yesterday, the following officers were elected:

—Albert W. Paine, Clerk.

—Gordon W. Boynton, George W. Picking, Darius Eddy, James Russell, John Trickey, Directors.

AN EXCELLENT EXAMPLE. One of the latest ventures in fashionable styles, which occurred in this city, was conducted upon purely temperate principles, the bride furnishing her friends with a fragrant cup of coffee instead of wine. The guests were highly delighted with the affair and voted it the happiest gathering of the season. A young lady who thus commended her married life by sacrificing custom to principle, cannot fail to be a helpmeet, indeed—and will prove a treasure to her husband greater than silver or gold.

—Precious KASCALS. The Bennington Banner is warning country publishers of Mather & Co., advertising agents, in New York. We exposed these swindlers in this paper more than a year ago. (Quebecian, N. H.)

We say ditto to the above, having posted this same Mather & Co. more than two years ago. Hassellthorpe. (Columbia.)

—Being new in the business, we were "taken" some dollars' worth of these fellows, but dropped them some weeks since. (Toll-free.)

—We dropped them last spring. If we had done so earlier we could have bettered our financial health. Pass them along. (Nashua Gazette.)

—Here's another kick. We have a bill of $100,000 against the village. (Hallowell Gazette.)

—You have our sympathies gentlemen. We were troubled in the same way until we adopted the advance system. That rather interfered with the arrangements of such suckers. They don't cheat us now, consequently they have withdrawn their patronage from us and bestow it all upon those good natured fellows who will be swindled by them.

Mrs. Polly Baker of Surrey, aged 71 years during the year 1864, wore 338 yards of cloth, and spun 90 skeins of yarn—last year she wore 537 yards of cloth, and made 150 skeins of yarn. (Hallowell Gazette.)
